Headline:
Largely cloudy, sunny spells in the northeast.

Today:
A rather cloudy day, bringing a risk of patchy light rain or drizzle through morning. Clearer skies and sunny spells develop in the northeast through afternoon, while southwestern areas remain quite cloudy. Cooler than recently, although warm in any sunshine. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Tonight:
Cloud builds through the evening, although the odd clear spell remains possible overnight. Outbreaks of patchy rain or drizzle are possible through the early hours. Minimum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Sunday:
A rather cloudy day with outbreaks of patchy light rain or drizzle, mainly through the morning. Cloud slowly lifts throughout the day, allowing for occasional sunny spells during the afternoon. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Rather cloudy but largely dry on Monday and Tuesday. A band of rain, briefly on the heavy side, moves over the region through Wednesday, accompanied by breezier conditions.
